An ordinance establishing through and stop streets in Circleville was introduced Wednesday in council.

It was given a single reading
then referred to the ordinance committee, headed by Councilman
William Reid, for further study.
The ordinance was prepared by Solicitor Carl C. Leist in cooperation with Police Chief William McCrady.

The police department has urged an ordinance of this type for some time. Interest in the legislation was given a boost after an accident recently at Franklin and Mingo streets in which one driver was killed. Police have had difficulty in handling investigations of accidents with no designations of through and stop streets.

"Through" Streets Fixed

Through streets established in the ordinance are Court street from the south to the north corporation limits; Main street from the east to the west city limits;
High street from Court street to the west city limits and from Court street east to the packing house alley; Western avenue from Mound street south to Scioto

Red Cross Asks Grain For Spain

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22—(UP)—The Red Cross sought $600,000 today to distribute 3,000,000 bushels of wheat among war-impoverished civilians of Spain.

Red Cross Chairman Norman Davis said an announcement regarding necessary arrangements for collection of the fund would be made soon. He indicated that the program may be put into effect almost immediately.

The wheat, donated by the government through the Surplus Commodities corporation, will be processed into flour before shipment from this country in vessels belonging to the U. S. Maritime commission, which is donating shipping space free of charge. Davis said approximately 600,000 barrels of flour could be made from the wheat, sufficient to keep 2,500,000 persons on a minimum bread ration for six months. Cost of processing the wheat is slightly more than $1 a barrel.

The program will be carried out over a period of six months with the Surplus Commodities corporation making available 500,000 bushels of wheat a month.

It generally was believed in semi-official and diplomatic quarters here that most of the flour would be distributed in areas held by the Loyalist government, although the state department announced that it would be distributed "impartially" according to need.

Some observers saw certain political implications in the move. They said that the decision to send huge quantities of flour to Spain and the recently announced extension of $25,000,000 of credit to China for purchase of trucks and automobiles was indication of this government's first move against the so-called dictator-military states.

Shortest Wheat Crop Foreseen For Next Year

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22—(UP)—

Government reports forecast today perhaps the shortest wheat crop in recent years for 1939 as a result of drought and acreage reductions.

Agriculture department officials said recent crop prospects indicated that farmers may expect some relief next year from wheat surpluses which last Fall mounted to a near-record supply of 1,100,000,000 bushels.

The crop reporting board estimated that farmers planted 46,173,000 acres in Winter wheat, and predicted that between 20 and 25 percent—8,000,000 to 11,000,000 acres—will be abandoned as a result of dry weather in the Great Plains.

The miners, Tony Paulson, 35, and Oliver Genovesi, 46, both of Painesdale where the mine is located, were rescued by a crew of 15 men who had dug and hammered their way through a 50-foot wall of rock and timbers.

The miners told W. H. Schacht, president of the company, that they were working 4,440 feet below the surface at the 44th level of the No. 4 shaft when an air-blast hurled rock and timber supports in front of the shaft entrance, blocking their escape. The men were not missed until the shift boss made his rounds on a routine check-up. A rescue crew was formed quickly and the men started digging through the wall separating the entombed miners from the shaft.

REV. V. C. STUMP
ACCEPTS PULPIT
AT NEW HOLLAND

The Rev. V. C. Stump, pastor of the Carroll, O. M. E. church for the last four years and formerly of Tarlton, will succeed the Rev. R. M. Morris as pastor of the New Holland and Atlanta church. The Rev. Mr. Morris was appointed pastor of the Bainbridge church after the slaying of the Rev. Russell H. Bready.

The Rev. Mr. Stump is a graduate of the University of Cincinnati. He completed his seminary work at Garrett Institute, connected with Northwestern university. He served as pastor of the Kingston church before his transfer to Carroll. The Stumps will move to New Holland as soon as the parsonage is vacated by the Rev. and Mrs. Morris.

KNISLEY OFFERS PLAN TO BOOST OHIO TAX FUND

Enforcement Need Cited By State Treasurer In Recommendation

1938 COLLECTION DOWN

Four Member Commission Advised To Make Law Become Efficient

COLUMBUS, Dec. 22—(UP)—State Treasurer Clarence H. Knisley suggested today re-organization of the sales tax collection machinery in Ohio would "increase sales tax collections several million dollars each year."

He proposed appointment of a non-partisan commission of four members with a force of well-paid examiners and investigators under civil service to enforce the sales tax law.

"This is no reflection on the present enforcement division, as they are underpaid," Knisley explained.

With the 1938 collections almost complete, his weekly report showed the collections to date totaling $34,964,450 compared to $45,927,796 a year ago. However, for the last week reported, Dec. 10, the collections were $934,791, a gain of $21,504 over the corresponding 1937 week. This was only the second time this year the 1938 week had been above 1937.

Supplementing his argument for re-organization of the enforcement machinery, Knisley said that California with one million less population, received $87,000,000 sales taxes for the 12-month period July 1, 1937, to June 30, 1938. As in Ohio the tax was 3 per cent and food exempted.

LAWRENCE TIBBETT SIGNED

Lawrence Tibbett, great American baritone, and often called the greatest actor among operatic stars, has been signed for a new show beginning Sunday, Jan. 15. With Carole Lombard and Cary Grant, who have already been announced for this program, Tibbett will be a regular member of the cast of the broadcasts over the NBC red network at 10 p. m. Sundays.

This Winter Tibbett will commute back and forth from New York to Hollywood for the program. His frequent appearances at the Metropolitan, where he is one of the biggest draws, will take him to New York between almost all the broadcasts.

RADIO NOTES

The Radio Theatre production of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" next Monday, Dec. 26, will be a field day for Hollywood's bird and animal men. Cecil B. DeMille has called in the best the screen capital has produced in these lines for his "Snow White" production.

The rise of Robert Emmett Dolan as a radio orchestral conductor has been slow but steady. His last commercial program assignment oddly enough was in the same time spot in which a new show will be heard beginning Sunday, January 15.

One of the Christmas presents Donnie and Ronnie Ameche are counting on is a prized trip to see their father, Don Ameche, broadcast on Christmas with Charlie McCarthy, one of their heroes. Ronnie, 4, and Donnie, 6, have attended only two broadcasts. Since October, Don has been promising them they could attend the Christmas broadcast, providing the plan had the full approval of Santa Claus.

Palace For Elegance Rises

SAN FRANCISCO—(UP)—As a gesture to the women, the Golden Gate International Exposition has decided on the construction of a "million dollar Palace of Elegance." The building will only cost $125,000, but the jewelry, furs, women's clothes and accessories of elegance on display therein will be insured for $1,000,000.

More Money Needed To Complete League Work

Returns from Christmas Seals to date fall short of the amount needed to carry out necessary work next year, according to W. T. Ulm, treasurer of the Pickaway Tuberculosis association. Before the work is completed, all seals mailed out must be accounted for. Those who can make a contribution are urged to do so at once, and those who cannot are asked to help the committee complete its work by returning their Seals.

"If you have not sent your money for Christmas Seals, please do so today," said Mr. Ulm. "It is a source of the greatest satisfaction to the committee in charge of the 1938 sale of Christmas Seals that the response has evidenced, in many instances, such whole-hearted cooperation in this fine enterprise. If properly done the tree is fireproof. The branches can be charred with a flame, but will not burn. Trees that have been cut too long cannot be treated.

"PAUL REVERES" ORGANIZED

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (UP)—The county commissioners have organized a "Paul Revere corps" to patrol county streams regularly and warn citizens of rising waters in flood times. The men will be paid 62½ cents hourly while on duty.

PLANTERS MAP DRIVE TO ROUTE COTTON SLUMP

Program Not To Depend
On Government For
Stabilized Price

MEMPHIS Tenn., Dec. 22—(UP)—The National Cotton Council has drawn up a 10-point program to increase consumption of the staple and save farmers from ruin.

Oscar Johnston, Mississippi planter and chairman of the council, declared at a council meeting here that the South no longer must expect the Federal government with its crop control measures to maintain stable prices and bring prosperity.

"We must go beyond that," he said. "We must carry out a definite program to expand the cotton market and halt competition of synthetic fibers. Cotton mills in the South now are manufacturing rayon. Every pound of rayon displaces one of cotton. That is our problem—to increase consumption. We have devoted too much attention to the problem of supply."

Full Program Outlined

The objectives of the council are:

1—To expand consumption of cotton and cotton seed through intensive advertising, improving qualities of cotton instead of substitutes, and by a campaign to obtain use of cotton in construction of roads and highways.

2—To expand foreign markets by supporting reciprocal trade treaties, downward tariff revision, development of good will among foreign nations toward American farm products, and support of all efforts to develop a policy of international harmony.

3—To foster and support scientific research to develop new uses for cotton, cottonseed and by-products.

4—To aid all other groups and agencies devoted to the cotton problem.

5—To sponsor and support any legislation, federal or state, which has as its objective the increased consumption of cotton, and to discriminate against cotton.

Favorable Rates Demanded

6—To fight for more favorable freight rates for the South which ships cotton.

7—To sponsor and support an effort to bring about a correction of maritime rates which would encourage export of cotton.

8—To make study of advisability of invoking federal and state aid to combat insect activities which destroy cotton.

9—To study problems of all cotton interest.

10—To support a processing tax on all materials competing with cotton, if Congress levies a processing tax on cotton.

The council plans to establish a permanent office in the near future, probably in Washington.

The next meeting of the council will be held at Dallas, Tex., in January. A committee is expected to report then on methods to finance the program.

Program Not To Depend
On Government For
Stabilized Price

MEMPHIS Tenn., Dec. 22—(UP)—The National Cotton Council has drawn up a 10-point program to increase consumption of the staple and save farmers from ruin. Oscar Johnston, Mississippi planter and chairman of the council, declared at a council meeting here that the South no longer must expect the Federal government with its crop control measures to maintain stable prices and bring prosperity.

"We must go beyond that," he said. "We must carry out a definite program to expand the cotton market and halt competition of synthetic fibres. Cotton mills in the South now are manufacturing rayon. Every pound of rayon displaces one of cotton. That is our problem—to increase consumption. We have devoted too much attention to the problem of supply."

Full Program Outlined

The objectives of the council are:

1.—To expand consumption of cotton and cotton seed through intensive advertising, improving qualities of cotton instead of substitutes, and by a campaign to obtain use of cotton in construction of roads and highways.

2.—To expand foreign markets by supporting reciprocal trade treaties, downward tariff revision, development of good will among foreign nations toward American farm products, and support of all efforts to develop a policy of international harmony.

3.—To foster and support scientific research to develop new uses for cotton, cottonseed and by-products.

4.—To aid all other groups and agencies devoted to the cotton problem.

5.—To sponsor and support any legislation, federal or state, which has as its objective the increased consumption of cotton, and to discriminate against cotton.

Favorable Rates Demanded

6.—To fight for more favorable freight rates for the South which ships cotton.

7.—To sponsor and support an effort to bring about a correction of maritime rates which would encourage export of cotton.

8.—To make study of advisability of invoking federal and state aid to combat insect activities which destroy cotton.

9.—To study problems of all cotton interest.

10.—To support a processing tax on all materials competing with cotton, if Congress levies a processing tax on cotton.

The council plans to establish a permanent office in the near future, probably in Washington.

The next meeting of the council will be held at Dallas, Tex., in January. A committee is expected to report then on methods to finance the program.

WHEAT NATIONS SEEK TO WIDEN WORLD OUTLET

New Policy For Canada First On Agenda At Winnipeg Rally

MILLIONS IN BALANCE

Carry-Overs To Be Huge, Experts Fear, Studying Annual Yield

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, Dec. 22 (UP)—With world grain markets stagnated by surplus, representatives of the leading export countries will meet in Winnipeg Dec. 12-16 and endeavor to formulate a new Canadian wheat policy.

Wheat experts from the United States, the Argentine and other Canadian provinces will attend the four-day session called by the Manitoba government.

Confronted with a decidedly bearish statistical position of wheat, conferees will tackle the problem of finding an outlet for an overcrowded market and a stalemate for rapidly declining prices.

Canada's recent signature to a revision of a 3-year-old reciprocal trade treaty with the United States is expected to have a direct bearing on the conference. In the agreement, the Dominion yielded to a 6-cent per bushel preference on Canadian-grown wheat going directly to the United Kingdom.

$50,000,000 At Stake

With present prices of wheat bordering on the depression lows of 1932, Canada faces a possible loss of $50,000,000 on the 1938 yield because it pledged itself to pay farmers a minimum of 80 cents a bushel regardless of the world price.

The 80-cent minimum will save farmers this year, but the administration is concerned with the prospects of the imminent loss and future years.

World wheat production during 1938 was slightly under 5,000,000,000 bushels, or 507,000,000 bushels in excess of last year's yield. This is exclusive of the unharvested Argentine crop, estimated at 300,000,000 bushels.

In announcing its intention of representation at the conference, the Argentine government stated that it would cooperate in efforts to reach an agreement on a world wheat policy, but would not accept commitment on its unharvested 1938-39 crop.

Carry-Overs To Be Large

Substantial carry-overs are expected in the major exporting countries. The international trade in wheat exports has been estimated at between 520,000,000 and 565,000,000 bushels.

The development of keen competition in export markets has been described by some observers as a "wheat war." In addition to restrictive measures taken by European countries to control imports, some have adopted the subsidy methods to facilitate disposition of surpluses.

The United States has set an export objective of 100,000,000 bushels through the subsidy plan for 1938. The plan so far has been disappointing, with only about 34,400,000, or less than half the objective, exported between July 1 and Nov. 15.

Argentina also subsidized its exports. Competition between the Argentine and Canada is anticipated when the former takes this year's crop.

Livestock Problems Up

Subjects to be considered at the sessions will not be limited solely to those of wheat marketing, but will encompass a detailed study of problems associated with the marketing of surpluses of cattle, hogs, butter, honey, poultry and fish.

The United States is represented by L. A. Wheeler, chief of the Foreign Division of the Department of Agriculture, and R. M. Evans, administrator of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Premier John Bracken of Manitoba, a noted economist, will preside at the meeting.

Clover Seedlings Helped By Top Dressing Wheat

COLUMBUS, Dec. 22—Success or failure with clover and alfalfa seedlings is often determined by the treatment given the soil months in advance of the actual seeding date, according to Earl Jones, extension agronomist, Ohio State University.

Many farmers postpone applying lime on their soils before seeding clover because they have little or no money to invest in soil improvement; but Mr. Jones claims farmers can top dress wheat in which seedlings are to be made without incurring extra expense and the manure will help the seedlings a great deal. Furthermore, manure applied ahead of seedlings or on meadows helps all crops in the rotation more than when applied just ahead of corn.

Manure used to top dress wheat not only adds plant food to the surface soil but also acts as a mulch to conserve moisture in the Spring and Summer. Clover and alfalfa seedling plants are tender plants that require readily available food and water supplies.

Mr. Jones recommends top dressing wheat with four to eight tons of manure per acre. The application is especially important on slopes and light colored soils. Only heavy soils, top dressing may increase the stability of wheat lodging.

Similar applications may be made on fields where seedlings are to be made in Summer without a grain crop. The manure can be applied in this case either just before or after seeding. Top dressing will help clover seedlings made in Spring grains if the soil is unproductive.

Another practice that helps carry the seedling through its first Winter is to apply manure on the seeding during the Fall or early Winter. Manure used to insure good hay crops adds much more to the farm income than manure

In his report, Arnell said: "The puncture was so high it was impossible to use a tourniquet, so Mr. Herchi, who was with me, looped his hands above my leg and stopped the blood from spurting until the doctor arrived."

The doctor praised Arnell for his coolness in directing the first aid procedure, and said had the puncture been a fraction of an inch to one side it would have been impossible to stop the bleeding.

Others in the well-chosen cast are Greta Granstedt, Don Brodie, Paul Hurst, J. Farrell MacDonald Shaw and Lee, and Edward Raquelle. Otis Garrett directed and Irving Starr produced from the screen play by Edmund L. Hartmann.

AT THE CIRCLE

Flashing by on the screen of the Circle Theatre this week is a concoction of mirthful adventures that should not be missed by any one seeking the diversion of hearty laughter. "Block-Heads" begins with a giggle and ends with a guffaw. Here are Laurel and Hardy at their funniest.

In the new Hal Roach-M-G-M feature, Stan is seen as a returned soldier. His return to his native shores is somewhat delayed twenty years, in fact, by his devotion to duty. He is seen as a hero and becomes more and more bewildered at the acclaim.

Tex Ritter, fighting hero of Monogram's "Song of the Buckaroo," also at the Circle theatre, has a chance in this picture to demonstrate four different talents he possesses.

A different kind of a western "Song of the Buckaroo" has Tex cast in a role which demands a great amount of acting ability. He plays "Texas Dan," a bad man who is forced to live another man's life for six years, and then couldn't turn bad again. As Texas Dan, and later as Tex Alden, Ritter, shows that he has what it takes when he makes the transition from one character to another believably.

CIVIL AIR CORPS PUT UP TO U. S.

LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 22—(UPI)

A plan for training thousands of civilian pilots principally at government expense has been submitted to the Federal civil aeronautics authority and the Nebraska congressional delegation by I. V. Packard, secretary of the state aeronautics commission.

Packard said his plan was endorsed several years ago by the national aviation committee of the American Legion, and he hopes it will be supported by various aeronautics associations and pilots' organizations.

He proposed that the Federal government purchase 2,000 light training planes for assignment to commercial pilots. Classes would be organized for flight instruction, each student being required to pass a military physical examination and pay the instructor's fee for dual training and a supervision fee for solo flying. The airplane and fuel would be furnished by the government under Packard's plan.

Packard believes the proposal would have these results:

1. It would enable airplane manufacturers to organize their factories for mass production.

2. More than 100,000 civilian fliers would be trained each year.

3. A huge market would be developed for aircraft sales.

4. Prices of aircraft would be reduced.

5. It would ease the unemployment situation among trained commercial pilots.

Elm Grange and neighbors have been assisting the family with work on the farm. The men helped clear away the fire damage and the women aided in cleaning up the home. All furniture was removed when it was feared the home would be lost.

No estimate of the damage has been made, the family said. It was partially covered by insurance. In addition to the loss of the barns, the fire destroyed farming implements, about 75 tons of hay, 600 bushels of wheat, six horses, three cows and two calves.

CCC BOYS ADD BULGE TO PACK SANTA CARRIES

Camps Will Distribute Toys To Children Of Poor

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22—(UP)—The Civilian Conservation Corps is playing Santa Claus this year.

Besides adding to the general Christmas cheer by making the routine family contribution of $25 a month, a large number of the 300,000 C. C. C. enrollees made toys and planned other Christmas surprises for needy families.

For several months many C. C. C. boys in their handicraft courses have been turning out toys for local needy children. Toys were made from salvaged lumber, fruit boxes, cigar boxes or anything handy around the camps. The toys were painted in bright colors, wrapped and given to children who otherwise would have had none.

Some Contribute For Toys

Last year every C. C. C. camp in the First Corps Area in New England was busy weeks before Christmas making toys. At other camps each enrollee contributed 10 cents to buy toys.

A camp in Ohio this year made 500 doll cradles and 50 small wagons out of salvaged material. In its wood-working shop last year, this same camp repaired and repainted hundreds of old toys.

In some camps near town, enrollees—especially Negro boys—sang Christmas carols in churches and over the radio.

All camps have Christmas trees. They usually are outdoors—living trees where available. Lighted and gaily decorated, these trees are hung with toys which are distributed to needy children who are invited to Yuletide parties.

The camps within the Arctic Circles in Alaska, through all the states, and in Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands use a large variety of native plants for Christmas trees. The Eskimos use the stunted, stocky Arctic spruce found along the river valleys of the Yukon and Noatak rivers.

Native Trees Decorated

Boys in the 48 camps now salvaging wreckage caused by the New England hurricane had plenty of thrown spruce to choose from. In the deep South the graceful longleaf pine and holly trees were available. In Arizona, the giant saguaros, or queer desert cactus, was lighted and strung with tinsel to make a gay, if unusual, Christmas tree.

In Colorado and through the Rockies, the Engelmann spruce erred. In California the C. C. C. boys decorated small redwoods or sturdy white firs, while along the Pacific Northwest coast, Douglas fir was a favorite.

This year a new note came into the Christmas picture. C. C. C. work is being carried on in northern Alaska within the Arctic Circle—among the Eskimos and the Lapps. The work centers largely around reindeer, building shelters for the care and better handling of emergency use of reindeer herders, and extermination of wolves and coyotes that prey on young reindeer.

Reindeer Valued Animal

The reindeer is considered a most important animal for Americans on the northern fringe of the continent. It furnishes meat, milk and clothing for the Eskimos—and transportation for Santa Claus.

After Christmas dinner, the Civilian Conservation Corps may be known as the Corruptive Consumers' Corps.

The 300,000 C. C. C. enrollees have planned to eat 250 tons of turkey. The 40,000 turkeys will be garnished with 150,000 bushels of cranberries and washed down by 700 gallons of milk. John D. Shurtliff, C. C. C. general inspector, revealed. The boys will eat 17½ tons of pumpkin, 100,000 eggs, 22 tons of bread crumbs, 6 tons of molasses, 8½ tons of sugar, and smaller quantities of ice cream, cake, mince pie and assorted fruits and nuts.

SHIPPING MEN OPTIMISTIC

AFRICAN BOTTLE-NECK

ONE form of "appeasement" for Italy, at least, will probably have to be granted sooner or later. France might as well make the best bargain she can, and get out of Djibouti. Mussolini's organ, Giornale d'Italia, is shouting for it with more logic than in the case of Corsica.

Djibouti, on the East African coast beyond the Red Sea, has the only good harbor and seaport thereabouts, and is the front door to Ethiopia, conquered by Italy with vast trouble and expense. It commands the only railroad to Addis Ababa and has a considerable nuisance value. It levies tribute on every Italian passenger and every pound of Italian goods shipped in from the coast. Naturally an impetuous dictator will not endure that forever.

France, of course, has a lawful right to that blistered strip of coast, and Italy is a lawless intruder. But Italy is in Ethiopia to stay, and France itself has vital spots exposed far nearer home. It would be good policy to make a little trade.

RURAL KALEIDOSCOPE

AN AUTHORITY in the Census Bureau believes that the next count will show a farm population in the United States in 1940 almost the same in net numbers as that of 1930. It will be the same in certain other respects.

Far from being stationary, the farm population during the last eight years has been in a state of continual change which has not yet ceased. In the early part of the decade many farm people moved into the towns and cities. Later people began going back to the farms. Those counter-migrations have been nearly equal.

There have been other movements, out of the dust bowl of the Southwest, out of the Appalachian hills in the East, and so on. Some of this has been a shift made by the people themselves in an effort to better their conditions, but often landing them in distant "rural slums" as bad as what they left. Some of it has been government resettlement, with financial aid, new equipment and special training for settlers, such as the Matanuska colony in Alaska and in various places within the United States.

Still another feature of the varying farm scene is the city-farm combination in which many families now live near cities, work in the city, and "farm" only enough to supplement their incomes with home gardening and poultry raising. These suburbanites at present are classed as part of the rural population. They now form so large a group that the census bureau may have to make a third classification for them in order to keep the statistics accurate and useful.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . . Hour by Hour

PAGES from the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Up feeling right proud of myself because for the first time in all personal history the Christmas shopping was completed in advance of the last possible moment. Maybe this exchange of presents is a foolish institution, but the giving of them is very pleasant nevertheless. As kids it is the receiving of presents that affords the great pleasure; as oldsters the actual pleasure is in the giving. I do wish that it were possible for me to do something as much as I wished a bicycle when I was ten years old. Why, I even dreamed about it. I didn't get it either.

Here comes Ernie Hill bearing presents, a fine silk tie to delight any fisherman. Blue background with the decorations a score of bright trout flies. Nice! In the mail many Christmas cards from fine friends.

See by the prints that our surplus wheat is going across the sea to feed the starving civilians in Spain. In case anyone has forgotten the fact, those men, women and children are starving because there is a war in Spain. Isn't modern warfare a glorious thing, starving and bombing the helpless? Some will object to the gift of wheat, but not me. We have more than we can use, so why not give it away?

In the evening did go to Columbus with Jim Stout, Clarence Wolf, Harry Hill and Harry Brown. There did see what Al Haft and some Columbus folk believe was a wrestling show. Al stages absolutely the worst wrestling shows I ever have seen and I have seen many because the grunt and groaners give me many a laugh. I never have seen but one match that was on the level and I would not go to see another. I much prefer the "fixed" kind for only in them does one see real action. And I like action.

In Columbus did meet up with a friend high in Republican politics and he was chuckling. Seems as though he believes that John Bricker will try to give Ohio a good administration as governor and that Eddie Schorr very likely is in for a two-timing if he believes that he will have a hand in running the state. Nothing in John's appointments so far indicates anything except good government intent. I believed sincerely that John sold out to Eddie in order to get the nomination without contest. Maybe he did and maybe he didn't, but if he did Eddie is doing very little collecting so far.

Found the usual line-up at the postoffice into which cards and packages are pouring in a great stream. Exchanged greetings with Pres Enderlin and then took off for a stroll over the paves, meeting Karl Mason and inviting him to accompany me to the fire department to examine the reconditioned presents prepared by the firemen. It really is a shame that every citizen of the village does not go to the fire department about

EDEN WOULD QUIT PARTY

WASHINGTON—Publicly, Captain Anthony Eden made no criticism of the Chamberlain Government during his recent visit to Washington. But in his private talks, he evinced some very strong differences with his former chief in the British Cabinet.

One was in regard to the Chamberlain policy on Spain, especially the granting of belligerent rights to Rebel General Franco.

"If that happens," the young Foreign Minister said, "I shall resign from the Conservative Party."

Eden, although already resigned from the Cabinet, remains a member of Chamberlain's party, and his resignation from it would be a terrific political blow to the Prime Minister.

Within the past few weeks, the United States also has made it clear to both the French and the British that this country is absolutely opposed to granting belligerent rights to Franco. Belligerent rights would give the Fascists the right to blockade Spanish Loyalists ports, would cut off all food supplies, starve out Barcelona in short order. With belligerent rights, Franco could blow up British, French, American vessels. It would mean an early Fascist victory.

ITALIAN STRATEGY

Another matter discussed during the Eden visit—which dovetails into Spain—is what Mussolini really wants in the Mediterranean.

It was the concensus of British and American opinion that at present he does not really want Tunis. His strategy is to yell for Tunis so hard that the French, to shut him up, will compromise on less.

Benito actually wants three things:

1. The French railroad from Djibouti, on the Red Sea, to Addis Ababa, capital of Ethiopia. (The Italians want to pay for this on such long-term installments that it would be a virtual gift.)

2. Participation in control of the Suez Canal.

3. Belligerent rights for Franco.

Mussolini most wants the last. It means the end of the war in Spain, gives him a chance to station Italian troops along the French border, gives him naval and air bases to cut France off from her African colonies. After establishing there, if he wanted Tunis, he could probably take it.

For this reason Premier Daladier is adamant against giving belligerent rights to Franco. He would much rather give II Duce the first two concessions.

The French have exchanged views with the Roosevelt Administration on this, and they see eye to eye. The Administration has gone even further and encouraged the French to stand up against the British.

Diplomatic opinion is that joint efforts of the French, the U. S. A. and Captain Eden may steady the weak knees of Neville Chamberlain.

of the rural population. They now form so large a group that the census bureau may have to make a third classification for them in order to keep the statistics accurate and useful.

DEATH AT THE MANOR

BY M. E. CORNE

RELEASED BY
CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:
Elsie Ritter, a beauty shop operator, is on her way to the Manor, the luxurious home of the wealthy Witherspoon family. She has agreed to take the place of her friend, Kitty, for a week, running the private salon of old Mrs. Witherspoon, an eccentric semi-invalid. The Witherspoon chauffeur takes her to the Manor where she meets the housekeeper and then the parlor maid. Before entering Elsie is told to change into her uniform, giving Miss Witherspoon, her nightgown, a special face mask. She meets her maid, Eliza. Eliza finds her employer is a withered old woman who is always muttering. (See next page.) (NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.)

CHAPTER FIVE
WHEN MRS. GREENLY had gone, I wandered aimlessly about the salon, admiring my temporary workshop. How Polly would rave over the place, I thought, re-examining the driers and the permanent waving machine and the perfectly equipped manicuring tables. So engrossed was I in my study that it was some minutes until I realized I was no longer alone. A shadow, a woman's shadow, wavering on the silver curtains caused me to cry out and whirl suddenly to face the intruder.

"I am so sorry! I have frightened you." A woman in evening dress stood before me.

"I didn't hear you come in," I replied. "Your shadow startled me."

"I—I thought someone had left on the lights." The woman made her explanation falteringly. "I saw them from the corridor."

"Oh! I eyed her curiously. She was frankly middle-aged and quite plain. Her figure beneath the folds of her gown was thin and scrawny. But it was her eyes that held my attention—they were small and brown and utterly sad.

"I am Mrs. Horace Witherspoon," she went on, and something clicked inside my brain. What was it Tim had said? Oh, yes—like a kid what's found out there ain't no Santa Claus."

"I am Elsie Ritter," I said quickly, trying not to stare at her. "I'm taking Kit Wilson's place."

"I remember." Her voice came trembly, trying not to stare at her. "You—you won't forget about the lights?"

I assured her that I would not forget.

"Good night?" She smiled, briefly. The woman was not telling the truth! Then I suddenly remembered what it was about Mrs. Horace's explanation that had not rung true—those heavy doors at the Manor, why, you could not see even a chink of light when they were closed! And the outer door of the salon had been closed—tighty. What was it that Mrs. Horace Witherspoon, Jr., had wanted from the beauty salon at nine o'clock at night?

Promptly at ten o'clock I presented myself at the salon entrance to the elder Mrs. Witherspoon's suite. The unwholesome Eliza was at the door.

It is due to malnutrition of some kind, although the exact food factor which is lacking is not known. Yesterday I described sulfanilamide, the wonderful blood antiseptic. Today I wish to take up two other drugs. During the last year the action of these drugs has been shown to be very effective. Their usefulness is not as great as sulfanilamide because they cannot be applied to as many different kinds of cases.

Metrazol is the first. This remarkable remedy has been applied to a great many cases of insanity with remarkable results.

Saw It Action

I recently visited a hospital where it was being used and saw its action with my own eyes. The action of the drug is to throw the patient into a convulsion, followed up by a period of stupor. He comes out of this condition often much clarified in his mental state and with a complete reversal of form. It is as if a car were scraping along on its gears and the driver could not find the clutch pedal, and suddenly, with a supreme effort, he threw the clutch in and the gears meshed and things began to move along smoothly.

It was first used in cases of dementia praecox, that strange malady of youth in which the personality is split and the young person draws further and further into himself and further and further away from the world.

AFRICAN BOTTLE-NECK

ONE form of "appeasement" for Italy, at least, will probably have to be granted sooner or later. France might as well make the best bargain she can, and get out of Djibouti. Mussolini's organ, Giornale d'Italia, is shouting for it with more logic than in the case of Corsica.

Djibouti, on the East African coast beyond the Red Sea, has the only good harbor and seaport thereabouts, and is the front door to Ethiopia, conquered by Italy with vast trouble and expense. It commands the only railroad to Addis Ababa and has a considerable nuisance value. It levies tribute on every Italian passenger and every pound of Italian goods shipped in from the coast. Naturally an impetuous dictator will not endure that forever.

France, of course, has a lawful right to that blistered strip of coast, and Italy is a lawless intruder. But Italy is in Ethiopia to stay, and France itself has vital spots exposed far nearer home. It would be good policy to make a little trade.

RURAL KALEIDOSCOPE

AN AUTHORITY in the Census Bureau believes that the next count will show a farm population in the United States in 1940 almost the same in net numbers as that of 1930. It will be the same in certain other respects.

Far from being stationary, the farm population during the last eight years has been in a state of continual change which has not yet ceased. In the early part of the decade many farm people moved into the towns and cities. Later people began going back to the farms. Those counter-migrations have been nearly equal.

There have been other movements, out of the dust bowl of the Southwest, out of the Appalachian hills in the East, and so on. Some of this has been a shift made by the people themselves in an effort to better their conditions, but often landing them in distant "rural slums" as bad as what they left. Some of it has been government resettlement, with financial aid, new equipment and special training for settlers, such as the Matanuska colony in Alaska and in various places within the United States.

Still another feature of the varying farm scene is the city-farm combination in which many families now live near cities, work in the city, and "farm" only enough to supplement their incomes with home gardening and poultry raising. These suburbanites at present are classed as part

Nothing in John's appointments so far indicates anything except good government intent. I believe sincerely that John sold out to Eddie in order to get the nomination without contest. Maybe he did and maybe he didn't, but if he did Eddie is doing very little collecting so far.

It causes a scruffiness of the hands and feet, sore tongue and intestinal disturbances. It has been thought that lack of vitamin G in the diet was the cause, but the substitution of vitamin G does not cure the disease. Nicotinic acid does.

In general practice its greatest usefulness has been in the treatment of alcoholics, food faddists and dyspeptics who have developed pellagra as a result of their limited diet. Here it acts with marvelous rapidity and effectiveness.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

A WELCOME PRESENT

There is no more welcome present than a bridge player than getting doubled at a contract which he can redouble and make. One splendid way to invite such gifts is to bid for a no trump game when holding a long solid minor suit which you have never shown to the opponents. That is, of course, only when you believe the other suits are probably well enough stopped to keep the enemy from a long run before your get into the lead.

North's double of spades had surely shown them stopped, plus something else in his hand. The something else could not very well be in hearts in view of West's bid and South's own holding. Likewise it could not possibly be in diamonds. It must be in clubs.

That's the way it turned out. East saw fit to double the 3-No Trumps, but South redoubled and a club was led, producing nine consecutive tricks for the declarer.

Sorority Entertains 20 Girls at Holiday Party

Gifts Presented
By Santa Claus
During Evening

Twenty girls of the fourth grades of the city schools were entertained at a Christmas party, Wednesday, by the Phi Beta Psi sorority. These girls were selected by the teachers. The affair, which was at Sylvia's party home, began with a delicious dinner served at 7 o'clock.

The tables were decorated in red and white, sorority colors. Tall red candles formed the centerpiece of the large table where the youthful guests were served. Favors of cups of candy tied in cellophane with sticks of candy in the top, and place cards tied with red ribbons to small candy canes, brightly decorated the festive table.

Eighteen sorority sisters and their three patronesses, Mrs. Hulse Hays, Mrs. N. Turney Weldon and Mrs. R. R. Bales, were served at small candle centered tables.

The group gathered around a lighted Christmas tree after the dinner hour and were favored with a visit from Santa Claus. After speaking a few words of Christmas greeting, he presented each girl a pair of gloves from the pack on his back. He also distributed the packages found under the tree, each child receiving an attractive doll. Gifts were found for the sorority members and the patronesses also.

The group assembled around the piano after the social evening and sang familiar Christmas carols.

Laurelville W. C. T. U.

The Laurelville Women's Christian Temperance Union met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ruby Drum with 14 members and three visitors present. During the meeting three members were received in the society, Mrs. Ida Lesser, Mrs. L. B. Chase and Mrs. G. H. Armstrong.

For the program, the "History of the founding of the W. C. T. U." was presented by Mrs. Eva Hartzel. A story, "A Toy for Jack," was read by Mrs. Hattie Karr.

The next meeting of the group will be at the home of Mrs. Anna Defenbaugh Wednesday, Jan. 18.

East Ringgold Ladies' Society

A large lighted tree and poinsettias formed the seasonable setting for the Christmas party of the Lutheran Ladies' society of the church at East Ringgold, which was held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Linnie and Mrs. Karl Brown, Washington township.

Mrs. Pearl Ellis was acting president for the business and social session. Carols were sung in opening the meeting and during the program. Mrs. Nora Delong read the missionary topic for the day.

Billy Brown opened the program with a recitation followed by a reading, "Christmas," by Mrs. Lyman Bartholomew. Miss Ethyl May played "Silent Night," a piano solo arrangement.

Refreshments were served to 18 members and guests by Mrs. Linnie Brown, assisted by Mrs. Lowell and Mrs. Karl Brown.

Birthday Dinner

Mrs. Ray Brantner of Walnut township entertained several guests, recently, at dinner honoring Mr. Brantner and Ersa Drake on their birthday anniversaries.

Those enjoying the day were Mrs. Iva Brantner, Frank Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Eliza Calvert, Richard Springer, Virginia Calvert, Helen Calvert, Charles Calvert and Walter Ramey of Columbus; Kenneth Wadelich, Ersa Drake, Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Drake and daughter, Maryann, John Doering, Miss Bertha Doering, Paul Mace and Mr. and Mrs. Brantner of Circleville.

Papyrus Club

Dr. and Mrs. Howard Jones, Park Place, will entertain the members of the Papyrus club Wednesday evening at their home, at the annual holiday social session.

O. E. S. To Meet

There will be initiation of candidates, Tuesday, in connection with the regular meeting of Circleville chapter, No. 90, Order of the Eastern Star. The session will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

Scioto Valley Grange

Scioto Valley grange will meet in regular session Tuesday at 8 o'clock at the grange hall, north of Ashville.

Bridge Club Meets

Mrs. C. P. Heiskell of N. Court street entertained three tables of bridge at her home, Wednesday, the guests including members of her club and a few additional players.

Mrs. Harp Van Riper, Mrs. Terry and Miss Ethel Noggle won the bridge favors.

Lunch was served at the small tables which were decorated with

Auxiliary to V. of F. W.

The Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars met Tuesday in regular session in the club rooms, W. Main street.

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Anna Bennett, president, plans were discussed for the annual Christmas baskets to be given to needy families.

After the session, Christmas gifts were exchanged and the mystery sisters for the coming year chosen.

The next meeting will be Jan. 3, at 137½ W. Main street. The session is scheduled for 7:30 p. m.

Christmas House Party

Mrs. Brunella Miesse of Lancaster arrived in Circleville, Wednesday, to visit over the Christmas with her niece and nephew, Mrs. W. Emerson Downing and Mack Parrett, Jr., of E. Main street. She is the first of several who will enjoy a Christmas house party at the Parrett home.

Christmas Eve will bring the other guests, including Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Miesse, Miss Sarajane Miesse and Ralph Miesse, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Guerne Nixon of Lancaster, who will remain in Circleville over Christmas' day.

Miss Mary Hays of N. Court street will entertain Miss Miesse over Monday, when she will be a guest at the Mistletoe Charity Ball.

Mrs. Thomas Hostess

Burning red candles and Christmas greens decorated the table where Mrs. Alfred Thomas seated his guests for a luncheon meeting of her club, Wednesday. A salad course was served preceding the games of progressive contract bridge. Christmas gifts were exchanged.

Mrs. Glen Geib, a substitute player, received high score trophy. Other favors were won by Mrs. Virgil M. Cress and Mrs. Ralph Heistand.

Needle Club Luncheon

Thirteen members of the Walnut Needle club gathered at Sylvia's party home, Wednesday, and enjoyed a holiday luncheon at 1 o'clock.

The guests were served at one table, which was attractively decorated with tiny Christmas trees, candles and a holiday centerpiece.

Christmas gifts were exchanged during the afternoon and plans were discussed for a social session at the January meeting. The

Sorority Entertains 20 Girls at Holiday Party

Gifts Presented By Santa Claus During Evening

Twenty girls of the fourth grades of the city schools were entertained at a Christmas party, Wednesday, by the Phi Beta Psi sorority. These girls were selected by the teachers. The affair, which was at Sylvia's party home began with a delicious dinner served at 7 o'clock.

The tables were decorated in red and white, sorority colors. Tall red candles formed the centerpiece of the large table where the youthful guests were served. Favors of cups of candy tied in cellophane with sticks of candy in the top, and place cards tied with red ribbons to small candy canes, brightly decorated the festive table.

Eighteen sorority sisters and their three patronesses, Mrs. Hulse Hays, Mrs. N. Turney Weldon and Mrs. R. R. Bales, were served at small candle centered tables.

The group gathered around a lighted Christmas tree after the dinner hour and were favored with a visit from Santa Claus. After speaking a few words of Christmas greeting, he presented each girl a pair of gloves from the pack on his back. He also distributed the packages found under the tree, each child receiving an attractive doll. Gifts were found for the sorority members and the patronesses also.

The group assembled around a piano after the social evening and sang familiar Christmas carols.

Auxiliary to V. of F. W.

The Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars met Tuesday in regular session in the club rooms, W. Main street.

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Anna Bennett, president, plans were discussed for the annual Christmas baskets to be given to needy families.

After the session, Christmas gifts were exchanged and the mystery sisters for the coming year chosen.

The next meeting will be Jan. 3 at 137½ W. Main street. The session is scheduled for 7:30 p. m.

Laurelville W. C. T. U.

The Laurelville Women's Christian Temperance Union met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ruby Drum with 14 members and three visitors present. During the meeting three members were received in the society, Mrs. Ida Leshner, Mrs. L. B. Chase and Mrs. G. H. Armstrong.

For the program, the "History of the founding of the W. C. T. U." was presented by Mrs. Eva Hartzel. A story, "A Toy for Jack", was read by Mrs. Hattie Karr.

The next meeting of the group will be at the home of Mrs. Anna Defenbaugh Wednesday, Jan. 18.

East Ringgold Ladies' Society

A large lighted tree and poinsettias formed the seasonal setting for the Christmas party of the Lutheran Ladies' society of the church at East Ringgold, which was held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Linnie and Mrs. Karl Brown, Washington township.

Mrs. Pearl Ellis was acting president for the business and social session. Carols were sung in opening the meeting and during the program. Mrs. Nora Delong read the missionary topic for the day.

Billy Brown opened the program with a recitation followed by a reading, "Christmas", by Mrs. Lyman Bartholomew. Miss Ethel May played "Silent Night", a piano solo arrangement.

Refreshments were served to 18 members and guests by Mrs. Linnie Brown, assisted by Mrs. Lowell and Mrs. Karl Brown.

Birthday Dinner

Mrs. Ray Brantner of Walnut township entertained several guests, recently, at dinner honoring Mr. Brantner and Ersa Drake on their birthday anniversaries.

Those enjoying the day were Mrs. Iva Brantner, Frank Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Elta Calvert, Richard Springer, Virginia Calvert, Helen Calvert, Charles Calvert and Walter Ramey of Columbus; Kenneth Waidelech, Ersa Drake, Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Drake and daughter, Maryann, John Doering, Miss Bertha Doering, Paul Mace and Mr. and Mrs. Brantner of Circleville.

OFFICE WIFE OF MICHIGAN MAN FOUND GUILTY

Jurors Merciful, Deciding Against First Degree Conviction

FERN DULL, 34, JOYFUL

Fatal Bullets Fired In Front Of Police Station

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Dec. 22—(UP)—Mrs. Fern Patriotic Dull, the blonde "office wife" who killed her employer and lover, William Holbrook, today was sentenced from 14 to 15 years in the Detroit house of correction.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Dec. 22—(UP)—Fern Patricia Dull, 34, a blonde divorcee, was gay and smiling today as she waited sentence for killing William Holbrook, 41, a lawyer with whom she had spent eight years as secretary and wife.

A jury of 10 husbands and two housewives found her guilty of manslaughter last night after seven hours of deliberation, but left her punishment to Circuit Judge Mark D. Taylor. He said he could impose any sentence up to 15 years and would do so today.

Mrs. Dull was smiling when brought into court to hear the verdict. She was smartly clad in a neatly pressed black dress. She was solemn as the jury came in. She held her head erect as she received the bad news, then turned and chatted gayly with her attorneys while her children, Lester, 16, and Gloria, 15, and her mother, Mrs. Ulysses Baker, Kimmel, Ind., sobbed in each other's arms.

H. T. Dewhirst, chief of defense counsel, protested Judge Taylor's announcement that he would pronounce sentence today. He asked arrest of judgement until he has time to prepare a motion for a new trial. Taylor dismissed him with a curt admonition to offer his petition today before sentence is pronounced.

Mrs. Dull was remained to the custody of the sheriff and led back to her cell. She stayed up until the early hours of the morning conferring with relatives and then went to bed.

Asleep in Few Minutes

"She was asleep in a few minutes," her jailer said.

She had hoped for freedom by Christmas but the setback did not appear to have disappointed her.

The state charged she shot Holbrook during a jealous rage after she had learned he visited his wife, from whom he was estranged.

Interior Secretary Lashes Persons Who Accept German Citations

(Continued from Page One) under which the United States ministers seek to provoke a kind of state of war between Germany and the United States and to urge the breaking off of relations at precisely the moment when there appear happily many symptoms of clarification on the horizon.

"This especially is the reason why the irresponsible activities of Ickes and his consorts is so reprehensible.

To Understand Problems

"It is to be hoped the United States will not fall victim of these pirates of public opinion but make an effort to understand European problems instead of listening to the vicious insinuations of the war mongers."

CLEVELAND, Dec. 22—(UP)—Remarks by Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes regarding Germany, which were the object of a protest to the United States department of state today by the Reich, were made here Sunday night in a nationwide broadcast.

Ickes, in a speech before the Cleveland Zionists society, attacked Americans who accept Nazi medals and referred specifically to Henry Ford and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

The cabinet officer added that Germany's persecution of Jews had carried back that nation to a period of history when man was unlettered, benighted and bestial.

"How can Americans endure on their breasts the sinister insignia that has been derisively bestowed on them?" Ickes asked. "How can they pretend that, in accepting the shabby baubles of a dictator they are honoring the great people whom the dictator has victimized and degraded?

"Perhaps Henry Ford and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will be willing to answer these questions which, I am sure, have occurred to millions of other free-born Americans.

"Nor are these the only two free citizens of a free country who obsequiously have accepted tokens of contemptuous distinctions at a time when the bestower of them counts that day lost when he can commit no new crime against humanity."

CREEK GIVES UP BODY OF PENNSYLVANIAN

(Continued from Page One) commander of the state motor police, ordered 270 troopers into a thorough search of the area for clues of any sort.

Police efforts to trace the man who telephoned Miss Martin have all failed. It was believed that he had obtained her name from the Wilkes-Barre business school which she attended and which tries to place its graduates in jobs.

At the undertaking establishment of County Coroner Ray W. Greenwood an autopsy was performed on Miss Martin's body by Drs. H. Gordon Guyler of Wilkes-Barre and A. B. Davenport of Tunkhannock under the direction of Major Clark.

Dr. Greenwood said the cause of death apparently was strangulation but that "laboratory tests will have to be made to make sure."

"Fingermarks were found on her throat," the coroner said. "She was badly beaten, perhaps with a rock. There was a long slash on her abdomen and one eye was blackened."

It was established that her slayer apparently attempted to dismember the body and then decided to secrete it instead.

Marks on the body indicated that a terrific struggle took place before Miss Martin died. Major Clark said she probably had been killed between 10 a. m. and 4:30 p. m. Saturday, the day she disappeared.

"The body was in an excellent state of preservation," Clark said, pointing out that this might have been the result of the body being immersed in the cold water.

State police were inclined to believe that the body was secreted by a person or persons familiar with the terrain in this area. The spot where the body was discovered was in such a wild, isolated section that Major Clark said:

"It was only an accident that she was found. She might have lain there 20 years without being seen, if the trapper hadn't come along."

Chief clues to the identity of the killer were the rope and burlap bag in which the body was wrapped. Benjamin K. Lee, a hemp products expert, was directed to trace the source of the bag and rope. Microscopic examinations were to be made of the ground around the spot for other clues.

No trace of the girl's clothing was discovered.

Major Clark said he hoped that

CONGRESS SEES CONTEST OVER W.P.A.'S FUNDS

Foes Of New Deal Relief Program Seek Abolition Of Program

In place of W.P.A., he would introduce a bill to place supervision of distribution of federal relief funds with the chairmen of the senate and house appropriations committees.

King was joined by Sen. Wheeler, D. Mont., who has opposed the administration often since he led the successful fight against President Roosevelt's court reorganization bill two years ago.

"The W.P.A. is a political liability," Wheeler said, "and there should be a house-cleaning within the agency."

He said that he now favored state administration of relief because the present setup had brought "discredit" on the federal government.

Williams Hints Shortage

First official indication that W.P.A.'s $1,425,000,000, voted by the last congress, would be depleted early in February was given by Deputy W.P.A. Administrator Aubrey Williams yesterday. He told a group of Pennsylvania relief workers, who came here to protest W.P.A. layoffs, that permanent dismissals would begin as early as Jan. 26 unless congress votes more money immediately. W.P.A. currently has more than 3,000,000 persons on its rolls. An estimated 10,000,000 persons are dependent on W.P.A. salaries.

Previously, W.P.A. officials estimated that their funds would last until Feb. 15 instead of March 1—the date set by congress. But treasury statistics had indicated that without drastic cuts in rolls they could not be expected to last beyond January.

Neal read the pages calmly, then wrote out a draft for $5,000 to Bess Carney, walk with me to the cashier's cage ... if you make a slip or attempt to tip off anyone we will turn this bank into a slaughter house . . ."

The object in her pocket which she had pretended was a gun turned out to be a curling iron.

"This especially is the reason why the irresponsible activities of Ickes and his consorts is so reprehensible.

To Understand Problems

"It is to be hoped the United States will not fall victim of these pirates of public opinion but make an effort to understand European problems instead of listening to the vicious insinuations of the war mongers."

Sam Morris and Malcolm Parrott went to Washington C. H. Wednesday night, to attend a Masonic meeting. Mr. Morris was installing officer for a Blue Lodge installation.

COUNCIL, POLICE TO ESTABLISH 'STOP' STREETS

Traffic along the through streets has precedent over traffic from intersecting streets. Traffic on the streets designated as stop streets must come to a complete stop before entering the intersections. Streets have right-of-way over any private driveway or alley. Motorists driving from an alley, driveway or building must stop before driving on the sidewalk or to a sidewalk area extending across an alley way.

The ordinance makes provisions for the safety director to provide temporary regulations for parades or other special functions. It provides also that no vehicle with an advertising sign or placard or which plays mechanical music for purposes of advertising shall be parked longer than 30 minutes on any street.

Motorists failing to observe the regulations as to through and stop streets are subject to a fine not to exceed $20.

TWO CARS COLLIDE

tion of its incompetency and political nature."

In place of W.P.A., he said he would introduce a bill to place supervision of distribution of federal relief funds with the chairmen of the senate and house appropriations committees.

King was joined by Sen. Wheeler, D. Mont., who has opposed the administration often since he led the successful fight against President Roosevelt's court reorganization bill two years ago.

The W.P.A. is a political liability," Wheeler said, "and there should be a house-cleaning within the agency."

He said that he now favored state administration of relief because the present setup had brought "discredit" on the federal government.

Lee Dodson, principal of the business school from which Miss Martin recently was graduated, told authorities he had received a telephone call early Saturday from a man who identified himself as "R. P. Davis." The caller said he was in the insurance business and desired a stenographer, and Dodson recommended Miss Martin.

Marks on the body indicated that a terrific struggle took place before Miss Martin died. Major Clark said she probably had been killed between 10 a. m. and 4:30 p. m. Saturday, the day she disappeared.

"The body was in an excellent state of preservation," Clark said, pointing out that this might have been the result of the body being immersed in the cold water.

State police were inclined to believe that the body was secreted by a person or persons familiar with the terrain in this area. The spot where the body was discovered was in such a wild, isolated section that Major Clark said:

"It was only an accident that she was found. She might have lain there 20 years without being seen, if the trapper hadn't come along."

Chief clues to the identity of the killer were the rope and burlap bag in which the body was wrapped. Benjamin K. Lee, a hemp products expert, was directed to trace the source of the bag and rope.

Microscopic examinations were to be made of the ground around the spot for other clues.

No trace of the girl's clothing was discovered.

Major Clark said he hoped that

Neal read the pages calmly, then wrote out the draft, walked to the cashier's window, obtained the money and handed it to her. As she started to leave he hurriedly whispered to Covington. Covington sauntered after her, captured her and brought her back into the bank.

The object in her pocket which she had pretended was a gun turned out to be a curling iron.

LARGE CROWD WATCHES OPENING CONTESTS IN NEW CITY CAGE LEAGUE

TWO THRILLERS
KEEP FANS ON
EDGES OF SEATSRalston-Purina, Stoutsville,
Eshelman, Merchant
Teams On Top

CHARITY RECEIVES $10

Final Minute Buckets End
Brace Of Hard Fought
TiltsCircleville's new city basketball league was an accepted fact today after four interesting games were put into the record book Wednesday evening. The Athletic Club gymnasium was well filled for the card, the American Legion's Christmas tree fund receiving more than $10 as 25 percent of the gross gate. The popular prices charged for admission to the games made the crowd large but the receipts not so great.

Scores Wednesday were:

Ralston-Purina 14, Wallace bakery 12.Stoutsville 25, Caskey cleaners 24.Eshelman Feeds 27, Bach's insurance 20.Circleville Merchants 29, Stevenson's furniture 15.The first two games were thrillers with both winners coming through in the final few seconds of play. In the third joust the winners overcame a big half time defeat to keep moving strong at the finish. The final game saw the Merchants entirely too strong for the colored boys who wear the Stevenson furniture store colors.

Anderson's Shot Wins

Creighton Anderson looped the ball just as the final whistle sounded finis to win for the Ralston-Purina team over the Wallace bakery in a 14-12 contest. The lead had swayed several times and just as it appeared like the game would go into an overtime Anderson took the ball under the hoop and pushed it off the backboard through the net. The ball was actually in the air when the time was up.Stoutsville came from behind to rip the Caskey cleaner outfit, expected to be one of the league's best. The Caskeys led nearly the whole route by not more than three or four points, but two quick bas-ets by Fry, substitute center for the Stoutsville aggregation, took the advantage away.

Eshelman Team Pressed

The Bach insurance team, comprised mostly of county teachers, ave the Eshelman outfit a run or its money, leading 10-5 at the end of the first 16 minutes of play, but youth told, and the Bach outfit was forced to take a defeat on one side of the ledger. The Eshelman crew, comprised entirely of x-high stars, looms as one of the teams to beat in the league.The Circleville Merchants team, formerly the Emery club, had everything in its favor, the Stevenson's lacking a scoring threat. The merchant outfit, although strong at night, adds several players

COUNCIL ASKS EXTENSION OF TIME FOR COMPLETION OF DISPOSAL PLANT

MAY 1 URGED AS DAY FOR SEWAGE WORK TO START

Contractor Writes Letter To Officials Citing Numerous Delays

Council voted Wednesday night to ask the Public Works administration for an extension of time for the completion of the disposal plant project from Jan. 6 to May 1.

A resolution on the request was adopted by councilmen after they received a letter from William Loomis & Son, contractors, of Logan asking the extension.

Carl C. Leist, solicitor, who presented the letter to council, said engineers had informed him the plant would be completed to a stage that it could be operated on Jan. 6, but there are many phases of the project still to be finished.

The letter from Mr. Loomis explained that the plant contract was signed March 5, 1938 and was approved by the Public Works Administration on March 10. Equipment was moved on the job on March 14 and work started March 22. It stated that work was halted from March 26 to April 1 and April 8 to 13 by flood waters at the site.

More Delay Cited

The letter pointed out that at the time the contract was signed the city was short of money for the total contract so some items were temporarily deducted. These items, the letter said, were not reinstated in the contract until Sept. 12, 1938 and this caused a delay in obtaining some of the materials that had to be ordered.

There has been a delay also in the construction of the pumping station to connect sewers in the northend of the city with the remainder of the city system.

The location of the pumping station was changed from an alley near the Court street bridge over Hargus creek to a point in Court street. Difficulties have been experienced in connecting the sewers. It is contended that some sewer changes are necessary at the lift station. The contractor said that after an order was received from council concerning the lift station it will take 30 to 50 days to make connections and install equipment.

"It looks very much as if the plant as a project cannot be completed by Jan. 6, but it can be placed in operation," Mr. Leist said.

A recommendation that the extension of time be granted was received from Floyd G. Browne of Marion, the city's engineer on the project. Mr. Browne expected to attend the council meeting. He could not attend because of illness.

87 Percent Complete

Mr. Leist explained that in addition to the lift station work there was grading, seeding, etc., to be done at the plant and this type of work depended on weather conditions. The project as followed by P. W. A. is 87 percent complete, Mr. Leist said.

Council passed an ordinance under suspension of rules appropriating $1,641 from the general fund to the disposal plant fund to meet an order of P. W. A. for an allocation from the government on the plant.

The city solicitor explained that

A TOOTHBRUSH FOR YOUR NOSE!

You brush your teeth every morning and evening, don't you? You do this to keep your mouth fresh and keep your teeth clean and free from decay.

Since you brush your teeth so much, you can have a sinus cavity extracted.

We don't suggest that you brush your nose with a toothbrush, but we do suggest that you keep your nose clean and free from congestion.

If you have sinus trouble, PERANOL alone will not correct the condition. There is one way to correct it, and that is to tell the truth and make a lot of care-all claims that cannot be substantiated?

PERANOL relieves discomfort from congestion of accessible membranes of the nasal passages.

Moreover, PERANOL does cost a few pennies more than ordinary nose drops, etc. But every package of PERANOL contains many more drops than any ordinary non-leaking nasal deodorizer that offers an entirely new principle of applying medication to the entrances of the nasal passages.

PERANOL is a registered trademark of the nasal deodorizer.

BANK YEGG, 21, GOES TO DEATH AS MURDERER

Stephen Figuli Is Silent After Entering Chamber

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 22—(UP)—

Stephen Figuli, 21, Cleveland bank robber, died in the Ohio penitentiary electric chair last night for his part in the murder of Detective Robert Cline following a holdup here last Feb. 4.

Figuli said nothing after entering the death chamber. He died at 8:05 p.m. Afterwards, a Columbus policeman who was one of the witnesses said the execution "was just as Figuli said it would be."

"He asked no quarter; gave no quarter. He was tough," the policeman said.

The silence of the death chamber was broken only by prayers of Figuli's spiritual advisers as he was strapped in the chair. Rev. P. P. Holloway, Cleveland, and Rev. E. J. Morgan, Columbus, Pentecostal ministers, accompanied him on his walk to the chair.

Figuli did not join in their prayers. A moment before the current was turned on, they said: "Goodbye Steve."

Figuli's mother, Mrs. Suzanna Figuli, and his brother, Joseph, tried to see Governor Davey all day yesterday to ask him to grant clemency, but they were unable to see the governor. They talked with Stephen for the last time about three hours before his death.

Figuli and three companions robbed a branch bank here. Police trailed them to a rooming house and a gun battle followed. Two of the bandits were killed in the fight and another died later in the penitentiary. Two other policemen were wounded.

MANSLAUGHTER ADMITTED

STEUBENVILLE, Dec. 22—(UP)—Stephen Conley, 63, was under a probationary sentence of five years today after pleading guilty to manslaughter in connection with the fatal shooting last August of Paul Taylor, 25, a neighbor.

HOUSING WORK PLANNED

COLUMBUS, Dec. 22—(UP)—The state housing board today approved the application of the city of Hamilton and a part of Butler county to establish a local housing authority.

KNOX COUNTIAN

FACES CHARGE

OF TAKING FUND

COLUMBUS, Dec. 22—(UP)—

Don Appleton, Mt. Vernon, deputy engineer for Knox county, was charged today with cashing 25 township warrants totaling $1,490 and converting the money to his own use, in a report filed with State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson by State Examiner H. H. Hastings.

The report said the misappropriations covered three years, beginning in 1936.

A copy of an affidavit filed with the auditor showed Appleton had admitted the embezzlements. He was discharged last month. A brother of Appleton paid the county $1,622 including the total amount of the warrants and $131 interests on Nov. 26, Hastings said.

KERR APPOINT'S

DONAHEY'S SON

AS HIS DEPUTY

COLUMBUS, Dec. 22—(UP)—

U. S. Marshal R. Kenneth Kerr today announced appointment of Richard Sterling Donahey, Columbus, son of U. S. Sen. A. Vic Donahey, as chief marshal for the southern federal district of Ohio.

Donahey will take office Jan. 1, succeeding Voley Main, Delaware, chief deputy for the last three years, who has resigned.

Young Donahey at present is vice president of the Donahey Burial Vault Co. at Urichsville. He will maintain his marshal headquarters at Cincinnati, and his territory will embrace Columbus, Dayton and Steubenville offices.

The city solicitor explained that

A TOOTHBRUSH FOR YOUR NOSE!

You brush your teeth every morning and evening, don't you? You do this to keep your mouth fresh and to keep your teeth clean and free from decay.

Sinus pains are just as painful as the toothache, but you don't brush your nose with a toothbrush, but we do urge you to keep your nose clean.

If you have sinus trouble, PERANOL alone will not correct the condition. Your doctor is the one to prescribe the correct treatment.

PERANOL will relieve discomfort from congestion of accessible membranes of the nasal passage.

Of course, PERANOL does cost a few pennies more than ordinary nose drops, etc. But every package of PERANOL contains many months' supply of the drug. It is a better buy than a nebulizer that offers an entirely new principle of application.

Satisfaction guaranteed. If our drug will not relieve your sinus trouble, we will refund your money without question.

COUNCIL VOTES $200 FOR SALARY COST AT BERGER

BANK YEGG, 21, GOES TO DEATH AS MURDERER

Councilmen passed an ordinance under suspension of rules, Wednesday night, appropriating $200 to the Berger hospital fund for salaries of nurses for the remainder of the year.

Two proposed ordinances establishing regulations for the sale of milk and milk products in the city were not considered by council Wednesday night.

Carl C. Leist, solicitor, explained that ordinances were prepared by a sanitarian of the state department of health for the consideration of council.

Councilmen decided to hold a committee meeting with dairymen and other interested parties in the near future for a discussion of the ordinances with the sanitarian. Councilman John Neuding is chairman of council as a committee on the milk question. No date for the meeting has been set.

to date the government has paid about $34,000 of the $61,363 granted the project. Another payment is due, but it is being withheld until the city posts $1,641, sufficient to complete the job. Councilmen were told that there will probably be sufficient "under runs" on the project so this money will not have to be spent. The payments by P. W. A. are made as the project progresses.

Council adjourned until Wednesday, Dec. 28, when there will be further discussion on the project, including the plans for completion of the northend pumping station. It is hoped Mr. Brown will be able to attend the adjourned meeting.

The pumping station work has been delayed because a sewer shown on a city map is unsatisfactory for use. It is understood that some changes were made in the sewer at the N. Court street bridge when a new bridge was constructed.
